With the deadline for opening the K100 project looming near, sewage inflow seems to have remained unaddressed. Unchecked sewage has made it impossible to walk on the footpaths designed adjacent to the drain.

The K-100 project is yet to be opened to the public but it already has a sewage problem. With Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) failing to address the sewage inflow in the city, the K-100 was an ambitious project that aimed to make the rajakaluves more accessible to the public. With clean water flowing through the drain, and the provision of footpath and seating areas along the drain, the project envisioned people utilising the space around the rajakaluve.

However, the reality of the project may be far from relaxing. Going by the current state of the drain, citizens would hardly be able to walk without covering their noses.

Exotic pet owners: Just 51

Number of applications seeking registration of exotic animals in state indicates people hesitant

The Union environment ministry came up with the Living Animal Species (Reporting and Registration) Rules, 2024, on February 28. Under the rule, those owning or trading exotic pets such as macaws and softshell turtles are supposed to register them with the state wildlife department.

The notification issued by the Ministry of Environment, Forest and Climate Change (MoEF&CC) said that registrations of these wild animals in captivity should happen within six months from the date of commencement of the rule.

But so far, the Wildlife Division of Karnataka Forest Department has received just over 50 applications across the state.

"We have received only 51 applications seeking registration of exotic animals in Karnataka. While people are still applying, the six-month deadline will be over in August and after that possession of such species will become illegal. The department thereafter will be forced to take action as per the Wildlife Protection Act," said a senior KFD official from the Wildlife Department.

DKS inaugurates SPARSH Hospital in Yelahanka

Deputy Chief Minister DK Shivakumar recently inaugurated SPARSH Super Speciality Hospital in Yelahanka. The event was graced by Jagadguru Shri Shivarathri Deshikendra Swamiji and Dr Sharan Shivaraj Patil, Chairman and Chief Orthopaedic Surgeon of SPARSH Group of Hospitals, Bengaluru. Other notable dignitaries in attendance included MB Patil, Minister of Infrastructure Development; SS Mallikarjun, Minister of Mines & Geology and Horticulture; Sharanabasappa Darshanapur, Minister of Small-Scale Industries and Public Enterprises; Jagadish Shettar and Basavaraj Bommai, former CMs of Karnataka and others. Dr Patil said, "This new facility is a testament to our ongoing efforts to be a comprehensive healthcare hub, offering a wide range of treatments and reaffirming our commitment to providing world-class medical care accessible to all. As we expand our presence throughout Karnataka, our goal remains steadfast: to offer every citizen the comforting embrace of life's healing touch." — BMB

'Drop in elephant mortality in state over last four years'

Various measures have been put in place; 19 jumbo deaths recorded so far in 2024

Garima Prasher

Between January 2021 and now (May 2024), Karnataka lost 31 elephants to electrocution. Out of these, 12 cases were recorded in 2021, nine in 2022 and 2023 each, and one death due to electrocution has been registered this year. Overall, as many as 43 cases of unnatural deaths in jumbos have been recorded in the given period. These include gunshots, electrocution, road and train accidents, and snaring. However, recent data from the Karnataka Forest Department (KFD) also points to a drop in elephant mortality in the state over the last four years. While 27 deaths were recorded between January and May 2021, this number dropped to 21 in 2022 for the same timeframe. In 2023, 25 deaths were recorded in the given months. This year, only 19 cases have been reported so far.

"Measures taken by the department have and will certainly yield results. We have been speaking with villagers and farmers and spreading awareness about installing solar-powered fences instead of drawing current from the power supply. Solar power fences generate 9.9 volts of direct current in pulses that do not harm wildlife, unlike the 20-volt current from the power lines that kill elephants. Electricity supply companies have also tightened their vigilance activities. However, this trend in elephant mortality has to continue for a longer time for us to say with certainty that our initiatives are yielding results," said SK Malkhede, principal chief conservator of forests, wildlife, and chief wildlife warden, KFD.

Last year, the forest department convened a meeting with power-supplying companies to discuss the issue of illegal tapping of power lines after media reports highlighted an increase in the number of elephant deaths due to electrocution. KFD then met BESCOM (Bangalore Electricity Supply Company Limited), HESCOM (Hubballi Electricity Supply Company), and other electricity supply companies in the state to discuss this issue and understand the reasons behind unchecked illegal tapping. "After that meeting, night patrolling, in association with power supply companies, has been happening regularly. The purpose of the patrol is also to keep a check on other illegal activities, such as poaching and illegal felling of trees. Although the department cannot book cases under the Electricity Act in cases of illegal tapings, we have instructed the vigilance department of electricity supply companies to book cases," added Malkhede.

While KFD statistics show a slight drop in elephant mortality and electrocution cases, wildlife conservationists say even one electrocution is a matter of concern. "The number of natural deaths in summer increases due to lack of water, fodder, etc. However, even a single elephant's death due to electrocution is a matter of concern. While the department has started night patrolling in coordination with ESCOMs, the exercise should be more rigorous and implemented strictly," said Ramesh Belagere, wildlife researcher, Foundation of Ecology and Education Development.

The number of natural deaths of elephants in summer increases due to lack of water, fodder, etc.

Concern over littering

Minister for Forests Eshwar Khandre said that measures are necessary to prevent entry into villages; solar fencing, suspension electric fencing, elephant trenches, and railway barricades are being installed to control the entry of elephants. He also said that the department is taking swift action to build a rapid wall in areas where the problem is severe, and the department has allocated funds for the construction of railway barricades in the budget. He appealed to people, farmers, and estate owners to coexist with wildlife and also warned that unscientific electric fencing or trapping should not be done, as it can cause harm to wildlife.

The minister expressed concern over the littering of plastic waste on the road to Nagarahole National Park and appealed to tourists to be more responsible. He said that plastic waste should not be thrown in the forest area, as it can harm wildlife. He also inspected the water sources in the Nagarahole forest and said that the water level and availability of fodder are satisfactory. However, he instructed the forest officials to take precautionary measures to prevent water scarcity in the event of a delayed monsoon.

SSLC topper proves that hard work defies all odds

Ankita Basappa Konnur of Bagalkot district, the topper of the state in the SSLC examination, has successfully proved that nothing, irrespective of studying in government, private school, or economic conditions, can deter the success provided hard work, focus, and dedication.

Ankita was in Bengaluru on Tuesday to meet the Chief Minister and Deputy Chief Minister, apart from attending a felicitation function organised by the Karnataka State Commission for Protection of Child Rights (KSCPCR). "Apart from focusing on what teachers were teaching in the class, I used to revise the lessons after coming to the hostel on a daily basis. It is very important to understand the lesson. I used to spend two to three hours revising lessons every day. If I missed revision of lessons due to some reasons, I made it a habit of completing the revision during the weekends by allocating more time," said Ankita.

Appreciating Ankita for her success in SSLC examinations, KSCPCR chairman Naganna Gowda said, "I am very happy to felicitate Ankita. Students from Bengaluru and Mysuru used to be top rankers in the SSLC examination all these years. Now, she has proved that students from other regions of the state can also score higher marks in the SSLC examination."

Ankita said that she did not have an opportunity to visit the KSCPCR all these years. "I happened to read about the KSCPCR in textbooks. I am very happy and feel proud to be felicitated by important people, including the CM and the DCM," she said, adding that she is indebted to her parents and teachers and that she wants to pursue higher studies and become an IAS officer.

Shashidhar Kosambe, a member of KSCPCR, has said Ankita, the top ranker, and Navneet KC from Mandya, who got third rank in the SSLC examination, have proved that nothing is impossible with hard work and dedication. "Sri Channabasaveshwara Gurukul College has offered a free seat to Ankita for PUC. Anubhava Mantapa president Dr Basalinga Pattadevaru has come forward to facilitate boarding and free education for her," added Kosambe.

KR Puram foot over bridge all set to skip yet another deadline

I-girders installed for concourse level; viaducts at second level to be erected soon, projected to be operational by end of June

Installation of 'I-girders' for the concourse level at KR Puram Railway Station

The much-anticipated foot over bridge (FOB) at KR Puram Railway Station has encountered yet another delay. Initially projected to be operational by April, the completion date has now been pushed to the end of June due to delays in the issuance of necessary drawings by subcontracted consultants.

The Bangalore Metro Rail Corporation Limited (BMRCL), which is overseeing the project, had initially promised the bridge would be ready by January. However, the timeline slipped, and despite setting a new deadline for April, the project remains incomplete. The latest development sees the installation of 'I-girders' (I-shaped girders are structural elements used in construction) for the concourse level, with the erection of viaducts at the second level expected in the coming days. This crucial phase precedes the final step of pouring and curing the deck slab concrete.

"The delay is primarily due to the third-party consultants subcontracted by BMRCL," said Clement Jayakumar from the Mahadevapura Task Force. "After much delay, the 'I-girders' for the concourse level are finally getting installed. The viaducts at the second level are likely to be erected soon. Once these steps are completed, the deck slab concrete pouring and curing will follow. We hope BMRCL expedites the remaining work, including the installation of lifts, as a priority."

This FOB is a critical piece of pedestrian infrastructure, aimed at enhancing intermodal connectivity by linking the KR Puram Metro Station with the KR Puram Railway Station. The project is being implemented by BMRCL in coordination with the Railways, Bangalore Development Authority (BDA), Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP), and the Traffic Police. The assembly of the steel structure on one side of the bridge is complete, with work on the staircases and lifts currently in progress. The completion of this FOB is eagerly awaited by lakhs of commuters who traverse the busy Outer Ring Road (ORR) in front of KR Puram Railway Station. The area is notorious for its traffic congestion and challenging pedestrian conditions.

> "The issue is that the bridge is higher than that of the concourse level of the metro station
> – An official

"Crossing the road here is extremely risky. We were hoping that the work would be completed soon. However, the work progress has been constant since last year," remarked a local resident.

An official stated, "The issue is that the bridge is higher than that of the concourse level of the metro station; there needs to be a link to it where some staircases or any suitable option should be installed for its connectivity. Only when the station work is completed can the FOB also be connected to it."

K100 dream turning into nightmare

found on the sides of the drain and spilling onto the footpath as well. The drain water brings with it wet and dry waste dumped in the rajakaluves. At the cross-over bridge constructed near the Shantinagar bus station stretch, the flowing waste accumulates and restricts the flow of water. While the wide footpaths were designed to allow citizens to walk along the drain, several stretches of the footpath remain covered with silt making them unwalkable. The project provides for an 8-km walk path along the drain from Shantinagar to Koramangala. However, the accumulation of silt makes the footpaths slippery and unhygienic. The floating garbage in the lake creates an eye-sore for the walker. It also raises questions about the future condition of the drain in case it overflows during rain.

While the K-100 project was modelled after the Cheonggyecheon River in South Korea, the implementation of the project seems far from the aspirations. The project estimated to cost Rs 179 crore and being executed by Star Infratech fails to meet the earlier expectations.

BBMP had previously stated that they are planning an Intermediate Sewage Pumping Station to address the sewage inflow. In addition, an STP was also planned at Bamboo Bazaar that would release only clean water into the drain.

Experts question the purpose of such projects without adequate planning to address sewage inflow.

"We need to view the success of the project from a pragmatic perspective. The outcomes of the project need to be discussed openly and the shortfalls need to be analysed. The primary task of the project was to arrest sewage inflow into the drain and it would seem that officials have failed at that. Despite the coordination of the eight agencies, it's disheartening to witness the outcome of the project," said Ram Prasad, a veteran lake activist.

Another activist said the K100 project was based on a few unrealistic assumptions. These assumptions were not met, and hence the project is in poor shape. "The dirty water and silt indicate that BWSSB failed to intercept raw sewage from entering the channel. Treated sewage from a BWSSB STP was supposed to be fed to this channel. People have dumped a lot of garbage in the channel, which means BBMP's garbage collection service is not effective. KSPCB has failed to regulate private STPs in the area. They end up releasing sewage into the drains. Unless the management by BBMP, BWSSB, and KSPCB improves, all such projects will end up wasting taxpayer's money," said Nagesh Aras, a citizen activist.

No loitering at Metro stations or pay penalty for each hour

No excuse such as heavy rain, or phone ran out of charge works as BMRCL gets strict

Bangalore Mirror Bureau

The idea is to ensure Metro facilities are effectively put to use

The Bengaluru Metro Rail Corporation Limited has implemented a policy of fines to ensure that commuters exit Metro stations and not linger on. Security personnel have been instructed to guide commuters to leave immediately upon disembarking or boarding trains; lingering beyond the necessary time period will result in penalties.

Recently, a passenger incurred a penalty at Vijayanagar Metro station for staying over 20 minutes. The passenger explained that their mobile phone had run out of charge, so he had to stay on to recharge it. However, Metro staff enforced the rule strictly, stating that exceeding the 20-minute limit incurs fines. A BMRCL official clarified that this policy isn't new and has been in place since operations began. Commuters are required to exit stations within 20 minutes of obtaining a token. Those who exceed this limit are subject to fines per hour.

No-consent filming

A recent video circulated widely on social media depicting a young couple engaging in intimate behavior aboard a Metro train. Numerous internet users expressed their opinions on this video, noting similarities between Bengaluru Metro and Delhi Metro in terms of such occurrences. While some individuals argued that such behavior is inappropriate in public settings, others raised concerns about the ethical implications of filming and sharing such footage without the couple's consent on a public platform.

According to BMRCL regulations, stations are strictly for train usage, not for other activities. Overstaying beyond the allotted time may result in fines of Rs 50 or Rs 10 per hour.

Explaining the rationale, a BMRCL official said, "Time is of the essence in running a smooth and punctual Metro service. By requiring commuters to exit stations promptly, we minimise congestion on platforms and in station areas. This streamlined process allows trains to depart and arrive on schedule, reducing delays and improving overall service reliability. It also facilitates smoother passenger flow, enhancing the overall Metro experience for everyone. Moreover, a well-regulated exit time policy contributes significantly to the safety and security of Metro stations. Prompt exits reduce overcrowding, which is crucial during emergencies or evacuations. It enables security personnel to maintain better vigilance and respond effectively to any incidents that may arise. Additionally, by discouraging loitering or extended stays, the risk of unauthorised activities or potential threats is mitigated."

Sources said that Metro stations are equipped with various resources and facilities designed to serve commuters efficiently. These include ticketing systems, seating areas, restrooms, and accessibility features. By encouraging timely exits, these resources can be utilised optimally by rotating commuters. "Ultimately, the rule regarding exit times is designed with the commuter's best interests in mind. It promotes a seamless and hassle-free travel experience by minimising wait times, facilitating quicker transfers between trains or modes of transport, and reducing potential conflicts or inconveniences among passengers," added Shankar Kumar, a regular commuter.

BM win-win: Breakfast Battle

Idli-vada vs. masala dose mornings

When it comes to breakfast, the battle between Idli-Vada and Masala Dose is intense. To gauge the preferences of Bengalureans, Bangalore Mirror conducted a poll on Wednesday, asking readers about their favorite breakfast. The response was overwhelming, with most people favoring either Idli-Vada or Masala Dose. Here are some of the highlights from the poll:

Aabidullah from Bannerghatta Road expressed his preference for Masala Dose. He found support in PA Kamath, who, in addition to Idli, Vada, and Masala Dose, also enjoyed Pongal, tea, and coffee. S.T. Mallikarjuna from Nagawara preferred Puliyogare for its strong masala flavors and dark color, alongside traditional side dishes like Chutney and Sambar.

Shilpa BK from Rajajinagar declared Idli-Vada as her top choice, while Vishu from Agrahara, Mysuru, opted for Bisibele Bath. Dr. Asha Abikar from RT Nagar also favored Idli-Vada. Among the diverse responses, readers mentioned enjoying 'Thatte Idli,' Chow Chow Baath, Bath Masale Dose, and Pulav as well.

Guide to look casual, cool and ethnic

Contemporary silhouettes, quirky prints, rich textures and urbane patterns have made ethnic wear the go-to choice for many urban 20-somethings. Here are a few tips on how to style them.

Choose fusion silhouettes

Flaunt your ethnic style with a georgette kurta. Team it up with a pair of palazzos, and wear a statement silver neckpiece to add some sparkle. Pink or beige pumps and a messy bun will give an edge to your ethno-chic look.

Try tie-dye prints

Tie-dye prints are in trend currently, so why not make the most of this style? A cotton silk kurta paired with beige palazzos, chandelier earrings and multicolour slingbacks. Wear a small bindi for a traditional touch.

Opt for tunics over kurtis

Love ethnic wear but kurtis are not your style? Well, we have a solution for that. Wear this georgette kurti-inspired tunic and create a unique look that is both ethnic and modern. Slip into a pair of black peep toes and you're good to go!

Give your salwar suits a twist

Make a statement with a kurti and a pair of cigarette pants. Add some shine to your outfit with glittering chandelier earrings, a gold box clutch and gold sandals. Tie your hair up in an elaborate bun and add a swipe of lip gloss for a polished look.

Layer up with ethnic jackets

Give any outfit a fun twist with a sleeveless ethnic jacket. Keep the look sweet and simple with hoop earrings, a swipe of pinkish-nude lippie and your hair in loose curls, cascading down your back.

Dept should focus on spreading awareness on rule

As per the new rule, every person who is in possession of any exotic animal species should report the details and make an application for registration electronically to the authorized officer within six months from the date of commencement of these rules and thereafter within thirty days of possession of such animal species.

Notably, exotic animal species are protected under the Convention on International Trade in Endangered Species of Wild Fauna and Flora (CITES) and listed in Schedule IV of the Wildlife Protection Act 2022.

The registration has to be done through PARIVESH 2.0 portal. The notification by MoEF&CC also stated that any transfer of possession and birth of offspring of these animals also need to be registered. In case of the birth of offspring of such animal species, registration should happen within seven days of such birth. Experts say while the rule mandating voluntary registration of these animals seeks better implementation of CITES, just 50 applications by exotic wild animal keepers in three months goes on to show that many are hesitant about this disclosure.

"We lacked any rules and regulations around keeping and breeding of exotic animal species that are endangered. However, the Covid-19 pandemic made us realise the importance of regularising the possession and breeding of exotic species. While the rule, if followed, will protect endangered exotic animals in captivity, just 51 applications are like a drop in a bucket. The department probably should look at better dissemination of the notification to ensure it reaches far and wide," said a city-based wildlife conservationist.

No storms, but monsoon may arrive right on time

Indian seas devoid of any cyclonic activity so far, a detour from pattern observed over last 4 years

Sridhar.Vivan@timesgroup.com
TWEETS @sridharvMIRROR

We are in the middle of May, and only a fortnight remains before the Kerala coast welcomes the Southwest Monsoon. Typically, monsoon reaches the Kerala coast by June 1, progressing towards Bengaluru and other regions by June 5. While the IMD predicts that the monsoon will arrive on schedule, there have been past instances of delays. However, private forecaster SkyMet has noted an unusual trend this year: the absence of pre-monsoon storms in the seas, a departure from the pattern observed over the last four years.

According to a Skymet report, "April and May are the most likely months for cyclogenesis in the Indian seas, with May having a higher probability of cyclones than April. However, the Indian seas have remained devoid of any cyclonic activity so far. With the monsoon scheduled to arrive on the mainland on June 1, any cyclones forming in June are considered 'monsoon cyclones,' as was the case last year with the Extremely Severe Cyclonic Storm 'Biparjoy' over the Arabian Sea. With barely two weeks left in the pre-monsoon season, the wait for the first storm of the season continues."

The private forecaster noted that the Bay of Bengal typically hosts more storms than the Arabian Sea. However, this trend may shift in the coming years as the Arabian Sea continues to warm more persistently than the Bay of Bengal. Over the last four years, the Bay of Bengal has experienced one storm each May: Amphan struck West Bengal in 2020, Yaas made landfall at Dhamra (Odisha) in 2021, Asani weakened at sea off the Andhra Pradesh coast in 2022, and Mocha struck Sittwe (Myanmar) in 2023. The last cyclone over the Arabian Sea in May was 'Tauktae' in 2021, which crossed the Gujarat coast near Una-Diu.

Skymet report further added that in the last 11 years, between 2013 and 2023, seven storms formed over the Bay of Bengal in May. Three struck Chittagong, one crossed Myanmar, and one each targeted West Bengal, Odisha, and Andhra Pradesh. Meanwhile, the Arabian Sea hosted only two storms during this period: 'Tauktae' struck Gujarat, and 'Sagar' weakened before hitting Somalia. The Indian Seas saw no pre-monsoon storms in 2014, 2015, 2018, and 2019. So far, 2024 has seen no storms on either side of the coastline, suggesting a possible repeat of those 'no show' years. A small vortex is forming over Thailand, expected to enter the North Andaman Sea around May 20. This could advance the monsoon stream over the Bay Islands and Southeast Bay of Bengal. However, the vortex is likely to track closer to the Arakan Coast and may not move into the deep sea, indicating that the Indian Seas might not experience a cyclonic storm this pre-monsoon season.

Rains have brought down city's temperature considerably

Turnaround in Bengaluru's Weather

Bengaluru's weather is famously unpredictable. In the last week of April, the city experienced temperatures around 38 degrees Celsius. However, by mid-May, temperatures had dropped significantly. Typically, the average daytime temperature in May is around 33.3 degrees Celsius, with minimum temperatures averaging 21.7 degrees Celsius. On Tuesday, Bengaluru recorded a daytime temperature of 31.4 degrees Celsius and a nighttime low of 20.2 degrees Celsius. This marks a drop of approximately 2 degrees Celsius from the average daytime temperature and 1.8 degrees Celsius from the average nighttime temperature.

> "April and May are the most likely months for cyclogenesis in the Indian seas, with May having a higher probability of cyclones than April

BMTC buses to ply in Mysuru

Don't be surprised if you spot Bangalore Metropolitan Transport Corporation (BMTC) buses in Mysuru. The heritage city has temporarily 'borrowed' buses from the capital city to support its city bus service.

A KSRTC official explained, "Back in 2009, KSRTC purchased buses under the JNNURM scheme. Of these, 118 buses have been identified for scrapping and will be retired from service starting May 18. This retirement will lead to a shortage of buses in the city, so to address this, KSRTC has borrowed 20 buses from BMTC."

These buses are from the KSRTC depots in the Mysuru division.

As they are 15 years old, they need to be scrapped. In addition to the 20 BMTC buses, KSRTC is also borrowing buses from the Chikkaballapur division. KSRTC plans to induct 50 new buses by June this year. HT Veeresh, Divisional Controller of the Mysuru division of KSRTC, stated, "We borrowed from BMTC to ensure that Mysureans don't face a shortage of buses. We hope to induct more buses to reduce our dependence on borrowed ones." –BMB

Public consultation on suburban rail environment impact

The Rail Infrastructure Development Company (Karnataka) Limited (K-RIDE) has scheduled a public consultation on June 14 at Anugraha Community Hall in MG Railway Colony, Sevashrama. The consultation has been scheduled to disseminate information regarding the Bangalore Suburban Rail Project (BSRP). K-RIDE recently put forth the Environmental and Social Impact Assessment studies for the construction and operation of BSRP on the public domain via their official website.

After the Environmental Impact Assessment revealed that 32,572 trees have been identified for removal to build the four corridors of the 148-km BSRP, organisations from varying groups have expressed strong criticism and have began an online petition urging the Bruhat Bengaluru Mahanagara Palike (BBMP) and K-Ride to attempt to minimise the number of trees slated to be chopped. Along with this, the Social Impact Assessment has also revealed that close to 650 structures, both residential and commercial are to be affected with complete or partial demolition by the project. —BMB

8-yr-old's body found in ditch

A gruesome incident has shocked the community as the body of an eight-year-old girl was discovered in a ditch on May 11. The young girl, the daughter of a house help from Nepal, had been missing for several days before the tragic discovery.

According to the sources, the girl was last seen on the morning of May 8, 2024, around 8 am. She had gone to the Iblur Indira Canteen to buy snacks but never returned home. Her parents, growing increasingly worried, began searching for her when she did not come back. Their frantic search yielded no results, prompting them to reach out to the authorities for assistance.

A First Information Report (FIR) was promptly filed at the Marathahalli Sub Division, Bellandur Police Station, on the same day she went missing. Despite the official involvement, the girl's parents continued their desperate search.

On May 11, the police informed the grieving family that the girl's body had been found in a ditch.

"My daughter was often playing outside. On May 8, she went out first to get ice cream and I saw in the CCTV footage that she returned home and later left again. When my wife came home at 11 am, she searched for our daughter everywhere but couldn't find her. So, she called me and I came home and looked for her," said the father.

When the family couldn't find the girl, they registered a formal complaint. "On May 11, while we were looking for her, we found her slipper outside a person's house. When we knocked, his wife came and said that nobody was there. However, we told this to the police and the police caught the man but there wasn't any evidence against him except for the slipper outside his house," he added.

The police are waiting for the post mortem report and are investigating the matter. —BMB

JACKY AT CANNES

Actor super excited, cannot wait for event

Actor Jacqueliene Fernandez is all set to mark her presence at the ongoing Cannes Film Festival.

Excited to walk the red carpet, Jacqueliene said, "I am super excited to go to the Cannes Film Festival once again this year, this time in association with BMW and I cannot wait for it. It feels great to represent the Southeast Asian diaspora at a global level, and it's an honour to walk the prestigious red carpet where many legends have already walked."

Meanwhile, on Wednesday, the Bharat Pavilion was inaugurated at the festival.

Representing the country, Secretary, Ministry of Information and Broadcasting, Sanjay Jaju along with Jawed Ashraf, Ambassador of India to France, attended the event.

Hosted each year at the prestigious Cannes Film Festival by the Information and Broadcasting Ministry, Government of India, Bharat's participation is spearheaded by the National Film Development Corporation as the nodal agency and FICCI as the industry partner.

The pavilion marks India's continued commitment to showcasing its rich cinematic heritage and fostering international collaborations with the global film fraternity. Many states/UTs like Jammu & Kashmir, Karnataka, Goa and Maharashtra, among others, are representing India at the Cannes Film Market this year.

Meryl Streep honoured with Palme d'Or

Legendary actor Meryl Streep was awarded an honorary Palme d'Or during the opening ceremony of the 77th Cannes Film Festival on Tuesday night here, as per The Hollywood Reporter.

Upon being called to the stage and handed the gold-plated emblem of the city of Cannes by French actress Juliette Binoche, the 74-year-old received a thunderous 2.5-minute standing ovation from the more than 2,000 guests who packed the Grand Lumiere Theatre. That includes Greta Gerwig, Streep's Little Women director and this year's Cannes jury president, who wiped away tears.

"You changed the way we look at women," said Binoche, choking with emotion as Streep comforted her.

"This prize is unique in the world of cinema and I'm very, very honoured to receive it," said Streep, who thanked her agent, Kevin Huvane, who she has worked with professionally for 33 years. She also thanked J Roy Helland, her hair and makeup stylist, saying "he is responsible for almost every single one of the characters that I have ever played in the last half-century."

She noted that the last time she was at Cannes, she was about to turn 40 and was a mother of three.

"I thought that my career was over -- and that was not an unrealistic expectation for actresses at that time," said Streep. "And the only reason that I'm here tonight and that it continues is because of the very gifted artists with whom I've worked, including madame la president [Gerwig]."

Kotee's song released

The first song from Daali Dhananjaya's movie Kotee, titled 'Maathu Sothu', was released. Saregama has acquired the rights to the songs of the movie. The song is composed by Vasuki Vaibhav, with lyrics written by Yogaraj Bhat, and sung by Armaan Malik.

"This is my first song with Armaan Malik. The lyrics are written by Yogaraj Bhat. It is always a joy and a learning experience to work with Yogaraj Bhat. I believe people will like this song," said Vasuki.

Director of the movie Param said that he was a big fan of Yogaraj Bhat's lyrics. "Armaan Malik has sung this combination song very well. There is no doubt that this song will appeal to Kannada ears and hearts," said Param..

Moksha Kushal will star as the lead actress. Veteran actors like Rangayana Raghu, Ramesh Indira, Tara Anooradha, Sardar Satya, and others appear in prominent roles.

The film features five songs. The film is edited by Pratheek Shetty, known for his work in Kantara.

Good response

Debutant director Chayan Shetty is excited about the tremendous response to the teaser of his maiden movie Adhipatra that was released last Friday. The teaser features Yakshagana and Tiger Dance and traditions of Coastal Karnataka. The team has not revealed much about its story so far.

"I am delighted about the tremendous response from moviegoers to the teaser. It has received 4.50 lakh views in just five days and it is set to receive more than 5 lakh views in the next few days. We are planning to organise an event to celebrate the success. The crew of the movie is busy with the post-production work of the movie. We plan to release the movie in July," said Shetty.

Recently, Lahari Music had acquired the audio rights of Adhipatra for a good amount. The movie will mark Roopesh Shetty's debut in Sandalwood. "Roopesh Shetty plays a cop in the movie while Jhanvi is paired opposite him," the director said.

The movie also features Prakash K Thuminadu, Raghu Pandeshwar, MK Mata, Deepak Rai, andAnil Uppal, and Prashanth as prominent characters.

The numbers in the grey squares refer to the sums of the digits that you must fill into the empty spaces directly below or to the right of the grey square containing the number. For instance, in the given example, the 3 boxes horizontally next to 15 must contain 3 digits that add up to 15, whereas for 9, it is the 2 boxes placed vertically under it that must add up to 9. No zeros are used here, only the digits 1 through 9.

Note: A digit cannot appear more than once in any particular digit combination. For instance, in the example, we cannot have the combination of 4+7+4 for 15.

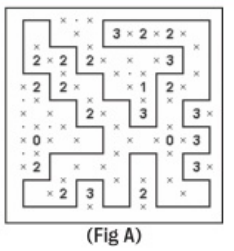
Rules

» Connect adjacent dots with vertical or horizontal lines, creating a single loop (Fig A). » Crossovers or branches are not allowed (As shown by dotted lines in Fig B). » Numbers in the puzzle indicate the number of lines that should surround it, while empty cells may be surrounded by any number of lines. » You can't draw lines around zeros. » Each puzzle has just one unique solution.



(Fig A)

How to begin:

Example (Fig A) – Begin with the zero next to 3. Since no lines can be drawn around zero, mark crosses around it, as shown. Now there is a cross in one space around 3. So we know the three lines of 3 can only be drawn in the remaining three spaces. Next, these lines can only be extended in one direction each. Continue, using the same logic.

Hints: Keep eliminating possibilities by marking crosses in spaces between dots where a line isn't possible, i.e., if you have already completed required lines or where a line extension may create a branch or cause a dead-end (Fig B)
